When	Wednesday, October 12 2011 4:30 – 5:30pm
Where	K1310 Ross School of Business
	Reception to Follow

Daniella Ballou-Aares leads Dalberg's North American offices. She advises foundations, governments, international organizations, companies and NGOs on strategies to increase their impact on some of the world's most pressing global challenges. Daniella helps organizations to define clear strategies, prioritize resource investments and launch new initiatives. She frequently facilitates Board level strategic planning processes and has supported the creation of innovative global initiatives such as the Pledge Guarantee for Health and the Affordable Medicines Facility for malaria. Daniella led the creation of Dalberg's Global Health Practice and has been actively building the firm's presence in the sector over the past six years.

Daniella's recent engagements include: designing the Pledge Guarantee for Health, a new financing mechanism which enables African banks to extend credit to smooth donor funding flows; structuring a multi-sector partnership to strengthen an agricultural export market in West Africa and devising a post-disaster development strategy for Haiti. Her clients have included the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation, UN Foundation, UNITAID, World Bank, FAO, Global Fund to Fight AIDS, TB and Malaria, US Government, UNDP, UNFPA, International Center for Research on Women, Human Rights Watch and Millennium Promise.

Before Dalberg, Daniella was a consultant with Bain & Company in the US, UK and South Africa, advising private equity, consumer products and financial services firms. She is a member of the Council on Foreign Relations. She was also a Fellow with the International Rescue Committee in Liberia supporting post-conflict redevelopment. Daniella holds an MBA from Harvard Business School, an MPA from the Kennedy School of Government and a BS in Operations Research from Cornell University.
